Our buyer was in the eastern market this week, and although waists are hard to find (we mean the right kind) he succeeded in picking up some very good numbers to sell at 75c, $1.00 and $1.25.

These goods were received today and will be put on sale Saturday morning at 9 o'clock.

WARREN AND MAYOR

Tell the Investigators How It Is.

WHISKY IN COUNCIL CHAMBER

It Was When Members of the Force Were Present—Thorn Had a Bottle and Passed It Around—The Chief Did Not Drink—Warren Tells of the Attempted Bribe—One Man Offered a House and Lot—He Did Not Take It—Why He Abandoned the Campman Case—Some Interesting Points Brought Out at the Meeting Last Night.

For over two hours last evening Chairman Everson and his committee heard Chief Warren and Mayor Sinclair answer the questions of Attorneys Brookes and Wells, but when the examination was over they were in possession of little more than they knew before they entered the council chamber in Wellsville. Perhaps the most important fact brought out during the evening was the flat assertion of Chief Warren that he believed Charles McGregor had attempted to bribe him.

All the members were present when Everson rapped for order, and the chief sat in the witness chair carefully examining the faces of the committee, and trying nervously with a pencil. He was not as nervous as upon other evenings, but it could easily be seen that he would prefer almost any other place than the position he then occupied. Attorney Wells opened the ball by drawing from Warren that he had heard Julia Dennis was the proprietress of a house of ill-fame, but he could never secure sufficient evidence to warrant her arrest. He had in the past done much to relieve the town of these houses, having pulled some and ordered others under pain of arrest to leave. He remembered that there had been 370 criminal prosecutions in the mayor's court during the year. Of these he thought 180 were upon his complaints, and some were made by the railroad men. The others were the work of Duncan, Marshall and Thorn. Attorney Wells brought in the Berry matter, and asked if Warren knew the woman Annie was in the cell. The chief explained that Marshall made the arrest, but could not remember who locked her up. Berry was put in at the door leading from the mayor's office, and Warren could not see Anna's door from that point. If he had known that the two were in the cells together he would have locked them up. Duncan and Marshall told him of it afterward. He believed it was the duty of the officers to lock the doors when they found that condition. He would have done it. The witness recalled that he had once talked with the man Wynne, who has been more or less prominent in the investigation, regarding the number of people about his saloon. If he sold on Sunday he was informed he had better look out. He had no warrant; never did he know that plans had been made to issue them. If he remembered right it was the Sunday before the warrants were issued. He did not know gambling was carried on in the place. He acknowledged that it was his custom in some cases to warn offenders, and thought it good policy, since it was done in the large cities. A bad effect was left when the police failed to convict. He had planned on that Sunday afternoon to raid the place, and with the other officers had watched; but they found nothing suspicious. He gave no one a tip, and never received an inducement in money, promise or political aid from the American House. When he was a candidate there was no one there to vote for him. Attempts had been made to bribe him, but it required questioning to bring out the facts. The chairman was anxious to know who had done this, but could get no nearer the facts than that he had never accepted. He recalled that several attempts had been made to bribe him in the McGregor case, and in the Carr matter. There were no others that he could recall. On the Carr case he said he had been offered $500. "I told him I would pull him as soon as I could, and in a few days after made the raid. I planned the raid, the other officers knowing nothing about it. I don't think it good policy to give out information of that kind. It was successful, and we got 18 people, and there has been no more playing there. Often it is necessary to work up a case before making arrests."

He was asked about Woods case and remembered that the mayor had said that McDonald had complained because the ordinance against throwing dice had never been enforced, but assured him that it would not happen in his saloon again. To his knowledge there was nothing political in the settlement. The mayor told him to notify other saloons, and he did. Attorney Brookes took the witness, and in a clear tone that could be heard in the remotest corners of the crowded room questioned him closely. Asked if that policy was right, the chief answered that as the law had never been enforced he believed it was. Some saloons knew nothing of it although it was passed when Mayor Aten ruled. He didn't know whether it was disregarded because he never went into the saloons, and he could not get convincing evidence by looking in. He acknowledged that it was his duty to know the law, although he never made any effort in that line. He said he never questioned the acts of the mayor when asked if the Woods settlement was justice. In one sense it was right; there were different ways of looking at these things. He couldn't understand when the attorney wanted to know if this was in line with the policy of the mayor and police. He knew of men who had been arrested and released in other cases, and that it was often done under this ordinance. Eventually he believed such to be the policy. To shrewd questions he said: "I don't remember the time when we went to raid the Carr place, but I think it was Feb. 24. Duncan, Marshall and Thorn were along, and I think I talked it over with Thorn, and maybe someone else. I went to the place almost every Sunday. I talked with Wynne, but nothing was said of a raid. I told him he would have to be careful, and if Wynne said on the stand that I mentioned the raid he was mistaken. When we got there we could see no light in the house, and the blinds were down (this last after close questioning by Brookes.) I don't know whether Wynne was a gambler, but I heard he gambled, and the place was a gambling den. I did not raid the place until a man had stated that he gambled there, and I do not believe it policy to raid any place until we have good evidence." Then came the matter of bribes again, with the repetition of connection with the McGregor and Carr cases. There the attorney brought in the matter of secrecy, and brought forth that the chief's policy was to keep his plans to himself until the last minute. Some times he took the policemen into his confidence, but not often. If he didn't tell Duncan anything, Duncan couldn't give it away. When asked if Duncan had ever betrayed him, the chief evaded the question by saying that he was not there to run him down, and repeated the statement so often that Mr. Brooks retorted "No, not even to the extent of telling the truth about him." A new line was sprung and the chief said: "We pretended to work together, and couldn't be successful if we didn't. There was a coolness between us, and the more we talked the wider the breach grew."

Mr. Brookes—Is it the custom in well regulated police departments to call on violators of the law to desist, and if they do not, arrest them?" Warren—I didn't say that; repeat it.

and could not remember many arrests for keeping saloons open after hours, being able to count them all on the fingers of his hand. In spite of the fact that he could not recall three prosecutions for that purpose, he did not think the saloonists of Wellsville had an easy time of it. "If you would see the fines those boys pay when they get drunk you would not think they had an easy time of it in this town," he said.

In answer to the question from Everson if there had been a coolness between the chief and Marshall, he said: "There was no coolness between Marshall and I. That was Duncan. He worked to my disadvantage. I talked with the mayor, and he told me Duncan had been trying to poison him against me. No sir, I never gave orders not to pull a place unless I was with them except in the case of 619. The last house was pulled six months ago. A year ago there were 23 houses here; now there are none, although there is talk of several. We got rid of some after the McGregor trial. The man who told me he had gambled in Carr's place is an insurance agent named Marshall, from Steubenville."

Rogers—Did you ever gamble or drink in any house or saloon in town?"

Warren—I did not. There were 20 indictments returned for Wellsville by the October grand jury, and the solicitor raised a howl by defending some of them. One party I sent indicted 14. There were more liquor indictments than when Mayor Aten was in office. McFarland was the name, and I had subpoenas and permission to make them out. I made out the subpoena on that desk which indicted Fitzpatrick."

Everson—Who attempted to bribe you in the McGregor case?"

Warren—I don't like to tell. I would rather not say.

Everson—Would it interfere with ends of justice."

Warren—I don't know; but this is how it was. A man came to me and wanted to sell me some property, and asked if there was any particular piece I would like to have. There was a piece, but I told him it was too expensive. He told me to buy it, and he would see that it was paid for. He said for me to pay a few dollars for it, and that would be all right. The man was Charles McGregor. He said I could pay for it by keeping quiet. You may not look at it that way, but I called it a bribe."

Kelly—Did Duncan help in the McGregor case?"

Warren—If he did I didn't see his work. O yes, he helped dig the body up, and I paid him $5 for it the other day. Duncan and Marshall did not locate the body, the chief did it. Duncan did not suggest where it was hidden. No sir, the citizens did not give information which led to the discovery."

Everson—How about that Campman case. Do you still think his body is in that yard?"

Warren—I thought so three months ago. I don't think so now.

Donnelly—Why didn't you dig up the body?"

Warren—Because I had no evidence. Donnelly—Wouldn't the grave show something?"

Warren—Yes. Attorney Brookes—Is it a fact, chief, that you must have the body before you can prove murder?"

Warren—Yes; but what if I had dug up the body? Where could I get witnesses? If Jess McGregor didn't put the body there, someone else did."

Rogers—When I brought the matter up in council the solicitor advised that nothing be done; we didn't have authority to act. The police had it."

Everson—Why did you drop the case?"

Warren—Because the people were talking about me going to the home so much."

Attorney Brookes—You say there were 23 questionable houses when you were made chief a year ago and you had been on the force two years before; why did you not make information?"

Warren—There was no use to pull them. We did do it and nothing was done. Mayor Aten was here then. He went through the motion, but did not punish. The keepers were some times arrested."

Everson—Did the need of evidence in the McGregor case prevent you from pulling them all?"

Warren—Yes. If we pulled a few and let the McGregor house alone it would never have done. Duncan and Marshall didn't understand why the houses were not pulled."

Attorney Brookes—Did Kitty Cuthbert know she was not to be raided?"

Warren—I never told her so; we never had an understanding. Had it gotten out, I would have talked with the mayor and hushed it up. I never paid Kitty a reward, but I gave her money. I don't know the exact amount. Doctors Rex and Park and myself were in the bedroom where the license hung on the wall, but I didn't see them then. She left here about the time of the McGregor trial. I don't know whether she paid the Dow tax."

Kelley—Do you drink?" Warren—No. Duncan drank here in the council chamber; Marshall was not here. Thorn drank and the mayor might have taken a drink."

Wallace Fogo was called by the committee and said: "I know Duncan. I remember meeting Mr. Rogers and talking with him. I did not say that if Duncan was not reappointed there would be a great tear up in the force. I said charges would be made against the chief whether he was appointed or not. Duncan did not consult me about the charges. I didn't see them and don't know who wrote them. I have been out of town and just got back."

Mayor Sinclair was called, and upon being asked by Attorney Wells to explain the drinking episode said: "I was up late one night, and was sick, and made the remark if I had some whisky I would take it. Thorn gave me a halfpint bottle, and I took almost a spoonful. I don't know whether Thorn always carried it, and I didn't say council would raise thunder if they found it out. Duncan drank more than half of it. The chief didn't drink."

Everson—Did it do you good?" The mayor—Yes sir.

Then the mayor told them a long story about those warrants in the Fitzpatrick case, detailing what has already been told, but making no excuse for not prosecuting the case. He also discussed the counterfeiting at length, telling how the bartender had explained that he knew nothing of the counterfeit he had given out, the mayor excusing himself for letting the man go by the belief that he did not do it intentionally, and Prosecutor Speaker did not want cases without something in them. "I didn't settle the case to get costs. I never did it. Aten told me when I got a case to send it to Lisbon, that was the place to get costs." He also covered the ground in the selling to minors cases, and said that Lyons was released because he was a good boy and gave his money to his mother and Hurst was bad, and spent what he earned. Attorney Brookes brought from him that the mothers of both boys were poor. He thought it best to send liquor cases to the grand jury, and acknowledged that Warren took the names of six boys to send to the jury, but the mayor forgot all about it when the time came. He got into trouble over the Miles Callaghan case, Mr. Brookes scoring him for allowing a place in the town so disorderly that the bartenders had to apply to him for protection against his customers. The mayor talked freely, but gave little new light upon the subject.

The seance will be continued to night. Full particulars in the News Review.

He Was Drunk.

A drunken man laid in the alley near the Diamond for several hours last night and might have frozen to death had not a couple of kind-hearted pedestrians gathered him up, and finding out where he lived took him home. The man was so nearly paralyzed by the liquor he had absorbed that he could not speak and presented a disgusting spectacle. The darkness of the alley shielded him, and was probably the sole cause of his escaping arrest.

Walked in a Sleep.

Frank McCune, a Blacksmith employed on Second street, was the victim of sleep walking last night. He imagined that he was going up town and started to walk out of a window when the shock awoke him. As a consequence he is nursing a badly cut arm today.

Cruelty to Animals.

Humane Officer Lloyd arrested William Black this morning for abusing his horse. He was arraigned in Squire Morley's court and pleaded guilty, and on promise that he would not drink any more was given the lowest fine possible, $5 and costs, amounting in all to $9.60.

Another Old Resident Dead.

John McGrew died at his home in Dry Run this morning after a long illness. Deceased was aged 72 years and had been a resident of this section for the past 40 years, being highly respected by all who knew him. He leaves a wife and two sons to mourn his loss.

Off For His Health.

Alvin H. Bulger, the well-known druggist, left this morning on a health jaunt. He will take in Fortress Monroe, Old Point Comfort and Virginia Beach during his absence. Mr. Bulger has had a quite serious illness, but is now convalescing nicely.

MATTHEWS HAD MONEY

But It Dated Back To Days Before the War.

A WIDOW GOT TEN DOLLARS

Of the Confederate Paper and Lost $9.70 in Good Cash—Another Place Where He Was Not So Successful—Landed by Officer Jennings This Morning—George Cox Was the Only Circus Day Victim.

Officer Jennings did a neat bit of work this morning in arresting William Matthews and judging from the way the telephone has been ringing in the mayor's office the prisoner is a much wanted individual.

From what can be learned, William evidently thought the people in this section did not know that the war was over. So he loaded himself down with Confederate $10 bills last night and started out to exchange them for coin of the realm and have a good time while he did it. Among the first places he visited was the saloon of Nick Eck, alongside G. W. Meredith's, on Market street. He called for beer and shoved a peculiar looking bill at Eck, who, although a German, not well versed in American ways, saw that something was wrong. He had never seen $10 bills printed in black on one side and light blue on the other and didn't want any of them. He made two trips to the city hall and patrol station but found no officer except the patrolman.

He had consulted G. W. Meredith and both he and the patrolman told him the bill was worthless. Eck returned to tell Matthews that the war was over, but he was gone. He had paid for his beer, so Eck was ahead $10 and richer by the price of the drink.

The next place Matthews was heard from was at the restaurant of Mrs. Stein, alongside Turner hall. Here it seems he was more successful. He purchased oranges and toiles to the amount of 30 cents and unloaded another confederate $10 note. Mrs. Stein was suspicious but finally got out $9 she was saving to pay for a new awning, borrowed a half a dollar from her brother, who recognized Matthews, and returned $9.70 to her customer.

Soon after, the officers were notified and Officers Jennings went to work. He captured Matthews at noon and he is now in jail. The East Liverpool Pottery company will probably have a charge against Matthews. He visited the plant Saturday and purchased some ware without paying for it. He tried to sell some at Morrow & Devines restaurant but evidently thought he was not getting rich rapidly enough.

When the case will be tried is doubtful unless it is before a justice of peace as the city is without a mayor. Gilbert neglected to appoint anybody in his place when he left for Zanesville last night. Officer Jennings has the bills to use in evidence. We understand that Squire Rose will act as mayor in case of necessity.

Everything is quiet around city hall today, and the city jail is empty and cold as the proverbial barn. There was only one prisoner in yesterday, which is something remarkable for circus day. He was George Cox, who was taken by the patrol from Watson's corner, and later paid Mayor Gilbert $6.60 for his fun and necessary release. His only regret was that he didn't see the circus. All the officials at city hall took in the show yesterday, and last night Mayor Gilbert left for Zanesville as a delegate to the convention of the Senior Mechanics. Chief Gill went to Lisbon today on business and city hall is deserted. Police business has been unusually dull for the past two weeks.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., TUESDAY, MAY 14.

For President,
WILLIAM MCKINLEY,
OF OHIO.

OVERCOATS were a necessity this morning, and a fire was a real nice thing to have about the house.

CHIEF WARREN, Wellsville, says women don't drink in brothels. The records of our larger cities show that drinking of intoxicants is indulged in to excess in such places of infamy, and by the sale of cheap liquors, patrons of such dens of evil are systematically robbed.

THE men who are being loudly boomed for the gubernatorial nomination are Hoyt and Nash. The Cleveland Leader and Columbus Journal are praising their respective candidates to the skies, while Poe, in a smaller way, is being given a lift by his journalistic friends. Unless some new element will appear to change the situation, and these things frequently happen in politics, the forces of Nash and Hoyt will face each other at the Zanesville convention, while the other candidates will look on and wonder why so many delegates are for one of these two men.

WEARY OF THEIR PARTY.

A Washington dispatch says that "the friends of Secretary Carlisle were very much surprised when they read his remarks about leaving the Democratic party if the Democratic national convention indorsed the free silver plank, and the over-zealous ones, who claim to be near him, have all rushed into print with denials of the statement, but they have done so without knowing what they are saying, or what Secretary Carlisle's true feelings in the matter are. The secretary did make the remarks that were quoted in these dispatches this week, and he made them without reservation or seeming desire to keep them secret. The conversation was one he had last Saturday with a prominent Ohio statesman, and, in repeating it, the Ohioan said that, in making the statement, Secretary Carlisle imposed no secrecy upon him, nor did he qualify the remarks in any way. So strenuous have been the denials of the self-authorized friends of the secretary that this statement is made, and the remark may be added that Secretary Carlisle himself has not denied it in his own language, and I don't think, if he recalls the circumstances, that he will. The trouble is, the leading Democrats of this administration are greatly worried over the situation, and not only are they anxious, but the president himself sees rocks ahead for his party.
Secretary Carlisle is not the only cabinet officer who has stated that if the Democrats indorse the free silver plank he will vote the Republican ticket, for Secretary Morton has been quoted in the same manner. A prominent assistant secretary is another one of the administration men who is open in his declarations that he will not vote the Democratic ticket if they include the free silver plank in their platform. This member of the administration, however, does not go as far as the cabinet officers, for he only says he will not vote the Democratic ticket, but does not say he will cast his ballot for the Republican nominee."

It is sincerely hoped that the Republican party will not be cheated by the acquisition of these statesmen (?), as their Democratic brethren were when McVeigh and Gresham went over to the enemy.

BOOTH IN THE LEAD.

Likely to Be Moderator of the General Assembly.

MAY RECEIVE UNANIMOUS VOTE.

Others Named For the Position, but Some of Them Won't Be In Attendance—Dr.
Hall Will Be Absent—Programme of the Meeting.

PITTSBURG, May 14.—The following names have been proposed for the office of moderator of the Presbyterian general assembly, which begins its sessions in this city Thursday: Rev. Drs. John Hall, George Alexander, R. R. Booth, W. N. Page, W. H. Landon and W. J.
Beecher. The first two have positively declined to be candidates. Dr. Hall being unable to attend the assembly. Dr.
Beecher also will be prevented from attending. Dr. Page of Leavenworth, Kan., would represent the sentiment of those desiring a chairman not hitherto associated in any way at the questions which have divided the church for several years. Dr. Booth has been prominent in connection with the Briggs and Union theological seminary matters, while Dr. Landon, formerly of Portland, Or., would receive the support of many in the west who believe that the moderator should be one living far removed from the strifes of recent years.

However, Dr. Booth, as near as can be ascertained at this time, is clearly in the lead and will be elected by acclamation.
The one hundred and seventh general assembly will meet Thursday at 11 a. m. Rev. Dr. Samuel A. Mutch-more, retiring moderator will preach the opening sermon. Reports of special committees will be presented on the second day of the session. On the evening of Thursday, the 16th, the Lord's Supper will be celebrated by the assembly. Popular meetings will be held as follows:

Evening of Friday, Presbyterian hall of publication and Sabbath school work; evening of Monday, missions among the freedmen; evening of Tuesday, home mission work; evening of Wednesday, foreign mission work; evening of Friday, the cause of temperance; Saturday, 10 a. m., ministerial relief; Monday, 10 a. m., freedmen; Monday, 3 p. m., education; Tuesday, 10 a. m., home missions; Tuesday, 3 p. m., aids for colleges and academies; Wednesday, 10 a. m., foreign missions; Wednesday, 3 p. m., publication and Sabbath school work; second Thursday, 3 p. m., church erection; second Thursday, 7:30 p. m., benevolence; second Friday, 3 p. m., temperance.

Besides the routine affairs various matters of special interest will be discussed, among them federation between the Reformed churches; the status of Lane seminary; work of the committee of conference with the theological seminaries on seminary relations to the assembly; the relations of Christian Endeavor societies in the Presbyterian church to the boards of the church.
This will be the twenty-fifth anniversary of the reunion of the old and new schools into which the church had been divided from 1837 to 1870.
Reports from Philadelphia will be presented by Rev. Dr. Craven (board of publication), Rev. Dr. Hodge (board of education), and William W. Heberton, treasurer of the ministerial relief board.
The latter board will be represented by Rev. Dr. Knox of Baltimore. Rev. Dr.
Wooden, Sabbath school superintendent, will also make an address.

A COLORADO DEFL.

Says It's Free Coinage or Disruption For Republicans in '96.

DENVER, May 14.—Following upon the lecture of Congressman Bland, in this city, the following editorial published in the Denver Times (Republican) has attracted considerable attention:
"Senator Henry M. Teller sounded the keynote for the next national campaign in Colorado in his short speech at the Bland silver meeting last Saturday night. It was not so much a special war cry to Republicans, however, as a general warning to members of all parties to rally round the one flag under which there is hope for the return of national prosperity."

"Then Senator Teller announced that he had cast his last vote for any presidential candidate who was opposed to free silver or lukewarm in its interests, he did it with the knowledge that the Republican party of Colorado stood as one man at his back. It is free coinage or disruption for the national Republican party in 1896. Which will you choose?"

A United States Consul Resigns.

CANADA SEIZING NETS.

Cleveland Fishermen Propose to Take Action in the Matter.

CLEVELAND, May 14.—It is probable that some action will be taken by the local fishermen in reference to the seizure of a large number of gill nets by the Canadian patrol steamer Petrel on Friday last. The nets were all owned by Cleveland parties. E. R. Edson of the firm of Edson & Co., in speaking of the matter, said: "If, as we now believe, our fishing nets were in American waters and the seizure made by the Canadian patrol steamer was unlawful, we intend to bring the matter to the attention of the authorities at Washington and make a fight."

The charts used by the fishing tugs are those issued by Rand, McNally & Co., and according to these the nets were located in American waters. A tug will be sent out with a government chart to verify the correctness of the Rand, McNally chart, and if it is found the nets were on the American side the fishermen will at once bring the matter to the attention of the Washington authorities.

MRS. SNELL ON TRIAL.

Charged With Complicity In An Attempt to Murder Her Son-In-Law.

CANTON, O., May 14.—Mrs. Sarah Snell, aged 54, is on trial here charged with complicity in a conspiracy to murder her son-in-law, William A. Mackey.
The case is a peculiar one. Mrs. Snell's husband had sued her for divorce for misconduct with a man named James Wiggins. Mackey, who had eloped with and married Mrs. Snell's daughter, was an important witness in the divorce case, and it was alleged he was shot to prevent his testifying.
Wiggins was arrested in Indiana with a man named Dr. M. Brown, who was hired to commit the crime. Both were tried and convicted, and are now in prison. Wiggins has been brought from the penitentiary to testify in the case, but Mackey, who recovered from his injuries, and Mrs. Snell's husband, who testified against the other prisoners, are now both on the side of Mrs. Snell.
The case attracts much attention.

THE MINERS' OFFICIALS.

Penna. In Indiana, Cameron In Pittsburgh, and McBryde In Columbus.

COLUMBUS, May 14.—President Penna of the National Mine workers has left here to attend a joint meeting of the coal operators and miners of Indiana, at Terre Haute, May 14. Vice President Cameron will remain in Pittsburgh, and Secretary McBryde in Columbus, to keep posted on affairs in the respective fields.

It is known here as heretofore outlined in these dispatches, that considerable destitution exists among the miners in nearly all of the states, and it is probable that this will cut an important figure in adjusting the difference between the miners and operators.

Fight at an Icecream Supper.

PEEBLES, O., May 14.—During an icecream supper at a country schoolhouse, northeast of here, a fight ensued between Edgar Turney and Stephen Fletcher, the result of an old grudge. Both men were ejected from the house and Turney hit Fletcher on the head with a piece of fence rail, knocking him down, after which Turney pulled a large revolver and shot the prostrate man through the left hand and made his escape. Fletcher's skull is fractured and he cannot recover.

Will Join the Federation.

CINCINNATI, May 14.—The International Association of Machinists has asked for a charter of affiliation with the National Federation of Labor.
Since the introduction of the typewriting machines, members of the Typographical union have become a prominent part of the machinists' organization. A resolution was adopted for none to be employed on the typewriting machines in union offices except those in good standing in the typographical union.

The Injunction Denied.

CLEVELAND, May 14.—In the United States circuit court in the case of Charles A. Radcliffe against the Ohio Colorado Mining company, Judge Ricks denied the application for an injunction and discharged the temporary receiver appointed a few days ago. Radcliffe made serious charges against the officers of the company and asked for an injunction restraining them from issuing any more stock and that the court appoint a receiver.

A Young Widower Mysteriously Missing.

PEEBLES, O., May 14.—Sanford Jamison, a young married man living several miles east of here, and whose wife died about three weeks ago, has been mysteriously missing from his home for nearly a week. Although every effort has been made to locate the missing man, his whereabouts is still unknown.
It is generally supposed that Jamison is deranged from grief over the loss of his wife and has wandered away.

Bitten by a Rat.

PEEBLES, O., May 14.—Word has reached here that a 4-year-old daughter of Mrs. Adeline Walcott, at Mineral Springs, this county, has been bitten on the wrist by a large rat while playing in front of the house. The child's wrist is swollen to almost double its natural size, and is of a greenish color. Several doctors are at work on the case, but have little hopes of the child's recovery.

Wife Perished in the Flames.

TOLEDO, May 14.—By the burning of the residence of Thaddeus Brown, a farmer residing half a mile from the village of Bryan, O., his wife perished in the flames and his 5-year-old son was fatally burned.

Spain Don't Need the Gunboat.

PHILADELPHIA, May 14.—The Spanish government has notified the Cramps, shipbuilders, that the gunboat contracted for to be used on the river Cauto, in Cuba, will not be needed, as the Cuban rebellion is practically at an end. This is due to reports made by General Campos, commander-in-chief of the Spanish forces in Cuba, that no further ships or materials of war need be sent him.

A State Senator Killed.

ST. LOUIS, May 14.—State Senator Peter Morrissey has been shot and instantly killed in a house of ill-fame, at inmate. The woman was insane.

A DAUGHTER'S SHAME.

It Drives a West Virginia Mother Insane.

WESTON, W. Va., May 15.—About the first of last month Thomas Chapman, a young man, living in the lower part of Braxton county, left for Sutton with a young lady, Miss Winnie White, a daughter of Mrs. Delia White, a highly-respected and well-to-do widow.
The young people had been lovers for two years, and before leaving home explained to the mother that they were going to be married in Sutton, and were going on to Webster county, where Chapman had a farm, which his grandfather had left him, where they would go to housekeeping and begin life for themselves.

The young people carried out all parts of the plan except the stopping at Sat-ton and getting married. About the first of April the mother became aware of what was going on, and had her son-in-law go to Webster county to have her daughter's wrongs righted. This resulted in a quarrel, and the arrest and indictment of Chapman and the desertion of the girl. Mrs. White came to Sutton and met her daughter and took her home. Mrs. White's mind was giving way under the strain, and she became a raving maniac, and is now in the asylum. Chapman is now out under bonds, charged with abduction.

Makes a Sensational Deposition.

DULUTH, May 14.—In the suit of the Guarantee Trust and Safe Deposit company vs the Duluth and Winnipeg railway to foreclose a mortgage for $3,000, 000, President Van Horne of the Canadian Pacific makes a sensational deposition, denying the charges of four stockholders who want to intervene on the ground that there is fraud. He charges that back in 1881, Directors W. W.
Spaulding, John C. Hunter, H. M. Peyton, A. J. Sawyer, A. W. Miller, R. C.
Mitchell and C. K. Davis received nearly 1,500 shares on $131,000 in bonds without consideration.

An Influx of Immigrants.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—Commissioner General Stump of the immigration bureau has received a telegram from Dr.

at New York last Saturday. 2,000 arrived Monday and 15,000 were expected to arrive during the remaining days of this week. These heavy arrivals are almost unprecedented during the last several years.

M. Benedict, brother-in-law of the defaulting state treasurer for the reason that he was not a fugitive from justice when the governor's requisition was granted and for the further reason that he is not being examined for the offense for which requisition was granted.

JACK SMITH KILLED.

Cripple Creek Miners' Leader Shot by an Officer.

FRIENDS THREATEN VENGEANCE.

Martial Law Practically Declared in Victor and Altman, Colo.—Smith Was Terrorizing Citizens of the Latter Town When He Met Death.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., May 14.—Jack Smith, the famous leader of the Bull Hill miners, has been shot and killed by Marshal Kelly of Altman. The marshal also shot George Popst, a miner who was with Smith.

The shooting created a reign of terror in the great gold camp. The miners threaten to avenge the death of their late war captain, and all saloons have been closed in Victor and Altman. Martial law has practically been declared. Acts of violence are expected at any moment.

Smith had shot out 11 of the lights in Dan Foley's saloon in Victor. He was arrested and placed under bonds. As soon as he was released, he went to Altman and proceeded to terrorize the inhabitants. Marshal Kelly ordered him out of town. Smith began firing and Popst stood by him. Kelly returned the fire and shot down both men, escaping injury himself.

During the Cripple Creek strike of the late spring Smith was the leader of the warlike element among the miners. He was arrested at Grand Junction two months ago and was under bond. Smith's friends swear that they will avenge his death. The worst excitement in the valley since the war has been in being confiscated by the civil authorities.

FOR THE CIVIL SERVICE.

The New Commissioners Appointed by the President.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—Major John B. Harlow, one of the newly appointed civil service commissioners, was postmaster of St. Louis in President Harrison's administration, and has been connected with the postal service most of the time during the past 30 years. While he has not been identified with the civil service reform movement, he has done much in a practical way to advance the interests of the service. He is a war veteran. He succeeds Mr. Lyman.

Colonel Rice, who succeeds Mr. Roosevelt, lives at Albany and is well known to all New Yorkers interested in politics. He derives his military title from his service with the New York state militia. He was private secretary to Governor Hill, but resigned that position in which he had acquired quite a little reputation. He has always been a friend and admirer of President Cleveland.

THE JAPS EXCITED.

They Don't Approve of the Concession to the Powers.

LONDON, May 14.—The Times today publishes a dispatch from Kobe, saying that the fact of the Japanese government yielding to the representations of Russia, France and Germany in regard to the Liaotung peninsula and agreeing to restore that territory to China has greatly excited and intensely disappointed the Japanese nation. It is added that the suspension of newspapers continues and that the Japanese ministers and the foreign legations are strictly guarded.

A dispatch from Tokio says that an imperial decree, dated May 10, announces that, in conformity with the friendly advice of Russia, Germany and France, and in order to secure a lasting peace, the mikado has recommended that the Japanese government conclude a special agreement with China providing for the restoration of the Liaotung peninsula.

Salvation Army to Invade China.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 14.—Another army is about to invade China, but the campaign will be conducted on different lines from that of the Japanese. The Salvation Army is going to try to conquer the Orient and bring the millions of Chinese into the fold of Christianity. The leader of the movement is Fong Yee Sing, a young Chinese who is a member of the Salvation Army in this city, and who is employed as typewriter in the office of The War Cry.

Ex-Aldermen Are Sentenced.

NEWBURYPORT, Mass., May 14.—In the superior court F. H. Cate, W. W. Ham and Dudley Hoyt, ex-aldermen of Haverhill convicted of bribery were sentenced by Judge Gaskill to 15 months each at hard labor in the house of correction. George O. Tilton, another alderman, and Fred M. Smith, a Boston liquor dealer, defaulted in $5,000 bonds each.

A SNUB FOR CORBETT.

The National Sporting Club Don't Want His Fight With Jackson.

LONDON, May 14.—At a crowded meeting of the National Sporting club the secretary read the cable dispatch addressed by Manager Brady to the club expressing Champion Corbett's willingness to meet Peter Jackson before the club. Jackson was present dressed in the latest style. He made a speech begging the club to put up a purse and let him have a chance to meet Corbett. His proposition, however, met with no response. Owing, it is said, to Corbett's sneering allusion to the National Sporting club it has been decided to decline to put up a purse. Peter Jackson said to your representative:

"I do not think Corbett is in earnest this time. He knows he is unpopular with the National Sporting club and had small show with them to hang up a purse. Then it is very near the close of the season and their books are full for the next season. I feel, and I told the club, as though my last chance of meeting Corbett is gone. He knows that we cannot fight in America, since the action of the Louisiana legislature. I will meet Corbett anywhere, and have always been anxious to do so."

Miners Incensed at O'Ferrall.

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., May 14.—The condition of the strike is unchanged. Governor O'Ferrall of Virginia is still in Pocahontas. The troops will remain. The governor says an outbreak has only been prevented by their presence and all men who wish to work in the mines will be protected. The miners are conferring and some overtures will be made looking to an adjustment this week. The miners are highly incensed at the position of Governor O'Ferrall. Military surveillance exists over all visiting miners from West Virginia in Pocahontas.

Dynamited a Saloon.

ST. LOUIS, May 14.—The third attempt to destroy life and property in connection with the strike at the Tador ironworks was made at Sixth street and Tremaine avenue, East St. Louis, when miscreants hurled a dynamite bomb at the premises of Henry Viets, a German who conducts a saloon and boarding-house in which are quartered 31 of the non-union employees. Nobody was killed or injured but the building was badly damaged.

RAVAGES OF FROST.

Great Damage Done In Different Sections.

$1,500,000 LOSS IN NEW YORK.

The Chautauque Grape Belt Swept as It Visited by a Mighty Fire—Much Damage Done in Ohio and Pennsylvania. Losses in Other States.

NEW YORK, May 14.—Reports from many sections of the state indicate that the frost did an immense amount of damage to growing vegetables, crops and fruit. Telegrams from Dunkirk state that the entire grape crop of the Chautauque grape belt was ruined.

The loss is estimated at $1,500,000 in this belt. That figure was the value of last year's crop, and by reason of new acreage coming into bearing the crop this year would have been much larger. The Chautauque grape belt extends through Erie county westward to Erie. It occupies a strip from five to eight miles in width along the southern shores of Lake Erie.

The number of acres bearing grapes last year was 26,000. This year 35,000 acres would have been bearing. The vines were loaded with blossom buds, and now from one end of the belt to the other the vineyards are nothing but blackened ruins and have the appearance of having been visited by fire. Three thousand six hundred freight cars were loaded from the belt last season. The total number of baskets reached 10,800,000. To this number 3,000,000 might safely be added for increased acreage this year.

WHEELING.—Specials from all parts of West Virginia report that the frost was generally heavy and killing. Fruit is badly damaged, grapes being almost completely ruined. Corn, where far enough advanced, potatoes, beans, tomato plants and other spring crops suffered greatly. In many localities ice was formed. The thermometer was 35, though at some points it fell below 30. In the mountain districts it snowed considerably, freezing as it fell. The forest foliage being all frozen. These conditions principally prevailed in the western, central and southern portions of the state. East of the mountains, though the mercury was as low as freezing, no material damage was done by frost.

LEXINGTON, Va.—Fruitgrowers in the Shenandoah valley fear the frost has blasted the prospects of what would otherwise be the premium fruit crop of the valley for years. Reports from the country surrounding Roanoke say that the heavy frost was very destructive to the early vegetables, and it is feared that the fruit in Southwest Virginia is damaged.

GRAND RAPIDS.—The most reliable advices obtainable here indicate that so far fruit has not been materially injured in Western Michigan, but great anxiety is felt for its fate. The mercury stands at 33 degrees in a driving snowstorm from the northwest, which may send it down to 30 or 25 degrees. A drop of a few degrees in temperature means a freeze that will certainly damage or entirely destroy all fruits except apples. The snow may protect the vegetables, but it cannot save the fruit, unless it be the later varieties of strawberries.

CLEVELAND.—Telegrams from numerous points throughout Northern Ohio show that the heavy frost was most disastrous in its effect upon fruit and early vegetables. In many sections nearly all the grapes, apples, peaches, cherries and early garden vegetables were killed. At a number of places it is said that wheat and corn have been severely damaged, and in many places corn will have to be replanted. The temperature fell below the freezing point and ice formed on still water.

MILWAUKEE.—The temperature has fallen and there is every indication of another heavy frost. Snow fell at De Pere, Manitowish, Madison, Chippewa Falls, Oshkosh, Appleton, Manitowish, Waupun, Palmyra and other places in nearly every section of the state. Vegetation is in bad shape.

CINCINNATI.—Specials from various points in Ohio indicate that the cold was the greatest and the frost most damaging on the Lake Erie slope; also that below the 40th parallel of latitude the damage was almost significant. In the northern half of the state, between the lake slope and the 40th parallel, serious damage was done to small fruits and to vegetables, but the tree fruits were only slightly hurt. Alliance reports the mercury at 24; Warren, 25; Akron, 23; Millersburg, 30; and Bucyrus, 32. This was fatal to strawberries and grapes and dangerous to tree fruits. Cleveland reports the mercury below 30 and general devastation along the lake shore. Reports from Indiana are much more favorable. Southern Ohio is unharmed.

BALTIMORE.—Reports from the peach growing sections of Maryland say the frost last night was so light that no bad effects are noticeable. Peaches are too far advanced to be injured by the cold. Many farmers claim that the crop was seriously hurt by the damp weather of a week ago.

The Trial of Jim Nutt.

ATCHISON, Kan., May 14.—In the Jim Nutt trial the defense introduced a dozen witnesses whose testimony all tended to show the prisoner was habitually melancholy and that he bordered on insanity. Editor Smith, publisher of a small weekly paper, testified that Nutt had requested him, a few days before the Atchison county shooting, to make no further mention of the Pennsylvania tragedy and said that he acted very peculiar. The arguments will likely begin today.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Oh, the snow, the beautiful snow.

Archie Hodgett, of the Grand, is on duty after a severe illness with lung trouble.

Fred Timmons left yesterday for Rochester with a gang of men, where they will work on a new house.

George Hale and two other members of the Beaver Falls racing team were in the city on their bicycles today.

The Columbian Club rooms were the scene of a very enjoyable dance after the circus last night and the amusement was kept up until after midnight.

The Grand Army is arranging to attend church and Company E will be expected to turn out with them. The boys will also be out with the old vets on Decoration Day.

The recent rains have swelled the river until boatmen think it is now more like living. Boats are running as usual, all the packets being on time with nothing but the wind to interfere.

Brewer Thomas, of this city, and Miss Nellie Mitchell, of Beaver Falls, were married here this morning by Squire Manley. They will make their home in this city, where they have many friends.

The remark was made yesterday by an old-timer, a man who has visited every circus which has come to East Liverpool since his boyhood, that better order and discipline was enforced by the Sells Bros. than by any other traveling aggregation of a like character in the country.

The assailant or assailants of Duncan Dungan, who told the police his tale of woe Sunday, have not yet been discovered, in fact there is no clue to them and the prospects for their capture are not by any means bright. The man's muddled condition prevents his remembering who hit him.

The patrol horses took a notion to air themselves of their own accord yesterday and when released from the wagon ran into the street instead of to their stalls. They were halted at Fourth street, although the sight of two big animals dashing toward the crowd scared many people badly near the corner.

The board of education were afflicted with circus fever last night and failed to get together long enough to hold a meeting. Although there is nothing more important than letting the contract for blackboards for the new central school building, there will probably be a special session some evening this week.

One of the horses of the black team used in the East Liverpool Ice company's wagons took fright while its mate was being shod in Waggle & Grosshans' blacksmith shop yesterday afternoon and dashed down Sixth street amid much excitement. It was captured in the alley by Colonel Taylor's residence without damage.

James Morgan, who was until recently a motorman on the electric line, will probably be confirmed as policeman by the Wellsville council tonight. His name was to have gone before that body last Monday night but in the squabble and investigation which followed the matter was lost sight of. Morgan has been on duty since as special police.

Several crockery men left this morning to catch what trade is lying around loose in all parts of the country. J. M. Burners went to Dayton in the interests of the East End pottery, John Patterson also went west with the samples of the East Liverpool pottery. R. Burford, of Burford brothers, went east and Sanford Neville left for New York state for Sebring's.

Council will meet in regular session tonight and among the most interesting things will be the appointment of one or two new policemen and the consideration of John Sants bill. Whether Mayor Gilbert left any names for appointment is a matter of doubt as nobody seems to know, but it is probable that there will be somebody listed and an interesting session is looked for.

Hal Surles, the lad who ran away from home and landed in jail not far from Chicago, came home last night, accompanied by an officer of that place. He was held until his brother Robert and wife went out last week. Hal's opinion of running away is changed now, as his experiences during the westward trip were many and varied, in such a manner as to cause him to think often of home.

A circus man proved a good attraction for a Liverpool girl yesterday and it is now said that she is numbered among the show people. The young woman in question was an employe at the Mountford pottery and when she visited Sells Brothers show yesterday the smiles of an animal trainer caught her eye. It is said that they proved too much for her and shortly after she announced her intention of leaving the city with the showman. Today she was not at her accustomed place and her friends believe she has kept her promise.

Not Quite So Warm

As it was last week, but it will come again, and when it does come it will still be warmer than it was this last week. Now is the time to get in shape for it. It was out of the question for us to get shirt waists as fast as we needed them, but we had 20 dozen come in by express on Saturday evening.

Not the ordinary kind, but our celebrated "Justine" Waist.

The waist with the largest sleeves, the waist with the neatest fitting yoke, the waist with the nicest material in it. It is the waist that has given us the big shirt waist business this season. Come while we can give you a good selection.

Decoration Day.

Just two weeks ahead. Have you made any preparations for it? This is the day that the girls look well in white dresses, in fact it is the universal style. It don't cost you a great amount of money to fit the children out. We can sell you a dotted Swiss as low as 10c a yard, and then at 12½c, 15c, 19c, 25c and on up to the very fine ones at 45c and 50c per yard. Then the embroidery and lace stock is so complete that you can find any quality and any price you may desire. Remember Decoration Day is a day that we should all fittingly observe, and a little money spent in preparing for it will not be missed.

The Merrill Silk Gloves.

We advertised them last week, and the ladies have been coming in looking at them and buying them. Remember our store is the only place in town you can buy them. It will pay you to look this silk glove business up.

Ribbons.

We are selling quantities of them for dress trimmings. We have all grades, in satin and gros grain and double faced satin, in all the popular widths. The prices are very low.

GAMBLING DENS.

A Good Citizen Speaks His Mind on the Subject.

EDITOR NEWS REVIEW:—"Have we gambling dens in our midst? If so, are they not accomplishing much evil?" Any man who possesses common sense, or makes observation of daily occurrences and surroundings, knows full well that we have gambling houses in our city. Young men can be heard boasting openly on our streets respecting the success which they had at a game of poker on the previous night, and some of the youngsters, less careful or more verdant than those of greater experience in evil ways, name the individuals who were heavy losers and who "kicked awfully, boys." I am not a gambler, and do not frequent gambling houses; in fact do not indulge in cards or games of chance of any kind; and yet these young fellows have told their stories in my presence, and the stories have been confirmed by others.

There are young men who are engaged in business in our city who, to my positive knowledge, visit these dens of infamy, and their business suffers in consequence. There are clerks in East Liverpool who almost nightly take a hand in the fascinating game of poker, sometimes losing quite heavily, when their salaries are taken into consideration, and they are losers as well in pocket, health, self-respect and business capacity. The keen business man, alive to his own best interests, will find it pays him to have no men in his employ who indulge in gambling, particularly employees who hold positions of trust.
The man who gambles always loses—eventually. The straight and honorable pathway of business is the one which wins success, happiness and prosperity.

By the way, Mr. Editor, you will excuse me when I say that the NEWS REVIEW cannot be held blameless respecting outrages committed against law and order and the best interests of our citizens. When men, young or old, high or low, rich or poor, are caught in direct violation of the law; when they are spotted or arrested in dens of infamy, and their names placed upon the docket of the city, it is the bounden duty of the public press to make their names and actions known, as by such measure the papers have wonderful influence in deterring men from committing such misdemeanors. More anon.

GOOD CITIZEN".

PAID SOME BILLS

And Claims Committee Hurried Away to See the Circus.

Claims committee met in regular session last night and rushed the various bills through at lightning like speed, then hastened to the circus. At least the meeting was brief and the legislators departed for somewhere, so the evidence points towards the circus grounds being their destination.

There were bills which didn't meet with the approval of the committee and they were referred back or laid over, as the case might be, until the body met again. Principal among the bills they didn't pay was the small one of $400 or more from Mr. Sant.
This gentleman says the bill will be paid tonight. He was at the city clerk's office this morning and President Marshall was buttonholed for a space of time not on the bills.

Manager Bostwick was present at the meeting last night and succeeded in getting the electric light bill adjusted amicably, so it was paid. The other bills approved were as follows: Clarence Golden, $1.55; T. S. McCrea-

COUNCIL MEETING TONIGHT.

The Services Will No Doubt Have a Full Attendance.

The election of a roundsman or policeman will be noted with keen interest at the councilmanic chamber tonight, and the actions of our solons will be watched closely. It will be remembered that, at the last regular session, when received the votes of Marshall, Horwell, Owen and Kent, Messrs. George, Stewart and Challis voted against the aspirant. The ballot caused much comment, pro and con, as those who voted for the ex-saloon keeper bear the reputation of being men who favor sobriety and temperance, while Messrs. Challis and Stewart are supposed to be friendly to the liquor and saloon element. George is of course "forrest" the liquor dealers. Peake, of the Fourth was not on hand at the meeting. A full house is expected tonight. When is slated to be the first name brought forward for consideration. Rumor has it that he has many warm friends in the East End, men who assert that he is a total abstinence man and that he does not use intoxicants of any kind. Further, they claim that he is honest and reliable, and that if elected he will do his full duty.

Rumor has it that Badgley is second on the list, and that he has a following which will stand by him through thick and thin, is case when is turned down.

Old Mother Gossip again asserts that neither Whan nor Badgley can make the rifle, and that Mr. Alvis is said to be third on the list, and will carry off the palm in case of Whan's defeat. Whan has the call at present in the rumor market, and betting is in his favor. We await developments.

THOUSANDS SAW IT.

Although There Were Numerous Vacant Seats at the Circus Last Night.

If Pawnee Bill's show does as well next Saturday as did Sells Brothers big aggregation yesterday and last night they will go away rich.

The crowd yesterday afternoon at the show grounds was immense and at night it was unusually large for an evening performance. Those who saw Sells Brothers on their last visit here opened their eyes with astonishment when they saw the show last night. It was larger by many times and better in every particular. As with the other shows bare back riding has not improved as the years have passed, neither has the midair acrobatic performances, juggle-ing, tumbling, trick bicycle riding, hippodrome or chariot races. In fact, what may be styled routine performances, are the same as they were year ago and more attention is paid to the training of birds and animals. The tight rope performances at Sells brothers are better than before and the battle ax swinging showed a man of great strength. The introduction of statuary was a pleasing diversion as was the female performer who lifted weights and supported herself by her teeth. Sells brothers animals are among the best collections.

Those who were present at the circus yesterday, morning or night, were greatly surprised at the performance given by the educated Alaska seals. It was simply wonderful, and caused much favorable comment, the remark being made in the presence of the writer that it must have required infinite patience and long-continued teaching on the part of the trainer to bring the creatures to perform the work they did in such a skillful manner.

MAY MUSICAL FESTIVAL

Our Citizens Will Have Reason to Rejoice.

The May Musical festival will prove a series of rich treats to those who are fond of music and melody, and the meetings at the opera house will no doubt attract large audiences. The very best of our local talent will take part, while eminent vocal and instrumental artists from other parts will participate. The program will consist of choice choruses and oratorios by a chorus of some fifty voices. You will have the pleasure of listening to exquisite violin, piano and vocal solos, duets and quartets.
Full information will be given in a future issue respecting program and those who will take part therein. You should secure choice reserved seats at once at Orr's.

The caste will make note that they will meet at the opera house, during the remainder of the week, for practice.

A Startling Admission.

In New York City, for five consecutive years, the proportion of Deaths from Consumption has been three in every Twenty Persons.

Epidemics of Cholera, Yellow Fever and other diseases of similar character, so terrible in their results, occasion wide spread alarm and receive the most careful consideration for their prevention and cure, while consumption receives scarcely a thought, yet the number of their victims sinks into insignificance when compared with those of consumption. Comparatively few people know what to do for their loved ones when they see them gradually lose strength, lose color, manifest feeble vitality and emaciation, or develop a cough, with difficult breathing, or hemorrhage. Cod liver oil was for a long time given in all such cases, but the poor success attending its use coupled with its nauseating taste has led many practitioners, as well as the public at large, to place their main reliance in Dr.
Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It deserves early attention and will prove effectual not in every case but in a large percentage of cases, and we believe that fully 95 per cent of all cases of consumption can, if taken in the early stages of the disease, be cured with the "Discovery." Dr. Pierce does not ask people to believe until they have investigated for themselves. A pamphlet has been published having the names, addresses and photographs of a large number of those cured of consumption, bronchitis, lingering coughs, asthma, chronic nasal catarrh and kindred maladies which will be mailed free to those sending for it with their name and address upon a postal card, or you can have a medical treatise, in book form of 160 pages, mailed to you, on receipt of address and six cents in stamps. You can then write those cured and learn their experiences.

Postponed The Game.

On account of the weather, Manager Weaver of the Young Men's Christian Association team decided to postpone the game of base ball which was scheduled to take place here tomorrow.
The game however will be played later in the season, as both teams are a tie on games won and this will be the deciding game. The game will be played here Thursday week.

Pawnee Bill's gang of bill posters, who have been here for some time, left yesterday for New Castle, where the show will go upon leaving here. If all the people who said yesterday they would see Pawnee Bill's show fulfill the promise their crowd will be large enough to pack the grounds.

reply, and that was all the answer one could get. The company seems to have fallen asleep.

CHANDLER WROTE IT

THE OLD DOCTOR WANTED AN OR-DER RELEASING HIS SON.

The Secretary of the Navy and President Arthur Were Going Fishing and Didn't Want to Be Bothered, but Changed Their Minds When They Heard the Argument.

In the southern part of Orleans county lives a doctor who is known far and wide among the country folk, and whose fame extends likewise into cities far from his home.

The doctor is a gentleman of the old school, courteous, with a southern accent when he becomes excited, for he was born in Virginia. The worst thing that can be said about this doctor is that he is an extremely hard swearer. He swears a little when he is calm, but when he is excited his vocabulary of in-vectives is almost without a rival. Many stories are told about this famous old doctor, and this is one of them:

The doctor had a son, and all his affections seemed centered in him. He resolved that this son should become a doctor, and that the father's mantle should fall upon the son's shoulders.
But the boy disappointed him. When he grew up, he didn't wish to study medicine. He said he had no taste that way. No plans of life seemed to fit his ideals exactly. He tried this, and he tried that, and nothing satisfied him.

At last he decided he would go to West Point. The doctor yielded, and the son tried the preliminary examinations, passed them and was appointed a cadet. He tried the entrance examinations, passed them and at last became a real cadet at West Point. Even the old doctor was proud and happy now.

But the son did not do as well as he had expected at West Point. He found that things military in reality were not as things military in ideal. He tried the January examinations and failed.
His heart was broken. Like many another youth before him, he could never bear the disgrace by going home. So he made as large a fool of himself as he could and enlisted in the navy, at the Brooklyn navy yard. His father received notice of his son's rash act and said nothing. His heart was too full. But he threw a few necessities into his grip and that very night started for Brooklyn. There he found the admiral. He told him the story. He begged him to do something for him, but the admiral could do nothing. His heart seemed broken. Was there no hope? The admiral told him he could go to the secretary of the navy, state his case, and perhaps something might be done. He could promise nothing, but at least it might be tried. The old doctor clutched at this slight hope, and without waiting to eat anything he took the very first train for Washington.

All these things happened during the first year of Arthur's administration, and, as every one knows, William E.
Chandler was secretary of the navy.
Arthur and Chandler were sportsmen, and whenever they had the chance they would set out on little fishing excursions of their own. Now, it happened that they were just ready to go forth upon one of these little jaunts when the old doctor arrived in Washington. He drove straight to the home of the secretary of the navy and found he was at the White House, so to the White House went the doctor post haste. He inquired for Chandler and was told that he and the president were just starting for a fishing trip and could not be seen.

"But I must see him, sir! It is very important, sir!" exclaimed the doctor.
He was using his soft southern accent now, for he was very excited.
"But you can't, sir," said the servant.
"I can, sir, and I will, sir!" and with no more words he pushed the astonished servant out of his way and strode through the hall. "Where is the secretary of the navy, sir?" he asked the first person he met.
"In that room, sir," said the man, pointing.

The doctor rapped and walked in.
There stood the president and the secretary, getting their things together.
"I am Dr. —, and I've come to get my son back, sir!" said the doctor, and then he told the story of his son's mistake. The secretary looked at him and then at the president. "I'm sorry, sir," he said, "but you have come at the wrong time. We can't bother with such things now. We are going on a trip.
President Arthur and I, and we do not like to be interrupted." Here he bowed and stopped.

The old doctor drew himself up, looked down at him, for Mr. Chandler is not a large man. His old eyes fairly blazed. He seemed choking. Suddenly he burst forth in a voice of passion:
"Do you think that I am going to let my son stay in that ship, sir, to give you the chance to kill a few measly no account fish? Do you think I am going to break my heart so that you can have yoh pleasure? Look at me, sir! I have not eaten a thing since last night, sir!
See the dust of travel upon yoh clo's!
Do you think that I have traveled night and day, and now I am going to be put off because you are going fishing? Who are you, sir? You are my servant, sir!
Who pays yoh salary? I do, sir! Who pays yoh rent? I do, sir! Who owns the boat you go off fishing in? I do, and now, when I come to ask you to get my son out of my navy, you have not time because you are going fishing! By —, sir, if you don't get my son off that ship, old I am, I'll thrash yoh — haid right off yoh body!"

The old doctor stopped, breathless.
His two hearers looked at him agast.
For a minute no word was spoken. At last President Arthur said, "Chandler, I guess you'd better write that order."

Chandler wrote it, and a little later three men might have been seen engaged in discussing three bottles of claret.
They were all smiling, but one of them had a look of great happiness on his grand old face. It was the old doctor.

dulge his tastes at a small cost for

The Asbury Park excursion will doubtless attract many to that delightful ocean resort. Atlantic City, sirable opportunity to visit the sea-a different route through the most romantic scenery beyond the Mississippi and Missouri rivers. Variable route privileges will also be accorded Boston excursionists, enabling them to visit Niagara Falls, Montreal, Thousand Islands and St. Lawrence Rapids, the White Mountains, the Hudson River territory, and to return by steamer on Long Island sound, after sight-seeing in Newport, Narragansett Pier, Nantucket and the Cape Cod resorts to New York, and thence through the agricultural paradise of the Keystone state, along the Susquehanna and Juniata rivers, over the Alleghenies, around famous Horse Shoe curve, through historic Johnstown and the coke and iron regions of Western Pennsylvania. It is also expected that Boston excursionists over the Pennsylvania lines will be privileged to return via Baltimore and Washington if they so desire.

In addition to the above, there will be plenty of other cheap excursions over the Pennsylvania lines to various points. As the season is some weeks away, arrangements in detail have not
